Kevin P. Mulry is a litigator handling all aspects of civil litigation through trial and appeal. Kevin's practice focuses primarily on commercial litigation, health law litigation, and government investigations and litigation, and he serves as the firm's General Counsel.

Kevin has tried cases involving commercial and health law disputes, trade secrets and royalties, employment discrimination, criminal forfeiture, tort, medical malpractice, and environmental law. He has also argued numerous appeals to the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, as well as the Appellate Divisions in the First and Second Departments. Kevin strives to obtain the best result for clients using skilled counseling, settlement, and litigation. Kevin values using mediation to achieve client goals when appropriate, and has served as a mediator for over ten years as a member of the SDNY Mediation Panel. Kevin is a frequent contributor to Farrell Fritz's New York Health Law blog.

Prior to joining Farrell Fritz, Kevin served for fifteen years as an Assistant United States Attorney in the Civil Division of the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of New York. From 2005 through 2010, he was principal deputy chief of the Civil Division, with supervisory responsibility for the office's affirmative civil litigation, including healthcare fraud, mortgage and government procurement fraud, civil rights, environmental litigation, civil racketeering and labor litigation, civil penalty actions, financial litigation and civil and criminal forfeiture. He was previously chief of the Long Island Civil Division, supervising the affirmative and defensive work in the Long Island office, and chief of employment litigation, overseeing the employment cases in the district. In 2004, he received the Henry L. Stimson Medal from the Association of the Bar of the City of New York for outstanding service as an Assistant United States Attorney.
