Farrell Fritz Corporate Partner, Thomas J. Killeen, Elected to Community Development Corporation (CDC) of Long Island's Board of Directors

Farrell Fritz is pleased to announce that corporate and banking partner, Thomas J. Killeen, has recently been appointed to the Community Development Corporation (CDC) of Long Island's board of directors. He will serve a three year term. Mr. Killeen was also elected to the board of CDC's affiliate, CDCLI Funding Corporation.

"CDC is elated that Mr. Killeen has joined our board of directors," said Marianne Garvin, President & CEO of CDC. "His extensive experience with non profits and insights about Long Island's economic and business activity will be invaluable to our organization."

Mr. Killeen, a Manhasset, NY resident, is actively involved in the community. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of the Long Island Alzheimer's Foundation, and is a past Chair of the organization; a member of Hofstra University's Honors College Advisory Board; an affiliate board member of the Nassau Physicians' Foundation; a member of the board of directors of the Long Island Community Chest, Inc.; Secretary and a member of the board of directors of the Patriot Group, Inc.; a participant in the Volunteer Lawyers Initiative for Catholic Charities and a mentor to the Long Island Elite. Mr. Killeen earned his J.D. from St. John's University School of Law and his B.A., cum laude, from St. Francis College.

CDC of Long Island is a not-for-profit organization that supports Long Islanders pursuing their housing and small business dreams. They strive to foster vibrant, equitable and sustainable communities. To learn more, visit <http://www.cdcli.org/>.
